

Survey on the Public Perspectives on Forests in Europe

Thank you for participating in our survey, which aims to explore the meaning of forests and forest restoration for the public.

This survey is led by the Swiss Federal Institute for Forest, Snow, and Landscape Research WSL as part of the SUPERB-project (forest-restoration.eu) coordinated by the European Forest Institute. This survey is funded by the EU's Horizon-2020 program, grant agreement no. 101036849. SUPERB's overarching goal is to create an enabling environment for, and demonstrate, the large-scale restoration of forests and forest landscapes across Europe. This survey contributes to achieving this goal.

The survey comprises four sections, covering forests in general, ecosystem benefits, forest restoration, and statistical information such as gender, age, etc.

The information collected in the survey remains completely anonymous, and only aggregated data will be used for scientific publications and reports. Your participation in this survey is voluntary. You are free to cancel your participation in the survey at any time. However, we would greatly appreciate it if you took 10 – 12 minutes to complete the survey.

If you have read and understood the purpose of this survey, please check the following boxes to confirm or decline:

The following questions seek your views, particularly on forest restoration in your local area.

15. How often, if at all, do you think forests in your local area are being managed in the following ways:

| | Never | Rarely | Sometimes | Often | Always | Don't know |
|--|-------|--------|-----------|-------|--------|------------|
| Re-foresting previously deforested areas. | | | | | | |
| Reforestation of fallow agricultural land. | | | | | | |
| Reforestation of formerly forested areas after natural disasters (e.g. fire, insect infestation or storms). | | | | | | |
| Re-introduction of native tree species in the forests. | | | | | | |
| Re-introduction of native animal species in the forests. | | | | | | |
| Removal of invasive species. | | | | | | |

| Forest recovery through re-planting a mix of tree species. | | | | | | |
| Improving forest connectivity (i.e. joining up separate small patches of woodland to make a bigger piece). | | | | | | |
| Improving forest access for recreational purposes. | | | | | | |
| Restriction on the harvesting of forest products. | | | | | | |
| Reduction of fuel loads to minimise fire risk (i.e. removal of tree stands or materials that will ignite fire). | | | | | | |
| Change in the type of forest management (e.g. change from monoculture plantations to mixed-species forestry; from clear-cutting to selective logging etc.) . | | | | | | |
